Woodstock's town meeting draws big crowd

Approximately 150 people turned out Monday night for Woodstock's annual Town Meeting, held at the school gym. Forsaking the NCAA basketball championship and the Academy Awards on TV, the residents turned out for what the moderator said the best example in the world of real democracy. The moderator was Vernon Jannet, of West Paris.

Observers said the large turnout was due to the strong feelings generated by the changeover of the town government to a town manager form. While lengthy discussion was expected on a number of the warrant articles having to do with the town manager, the town manager form of government, there were actually few lengthy debates. The first test vote came on Article 2, which asked if the town will give the town manager the authority to set salaries for appointed officials, such as the town foreman, after limited discussion—most of it not on the question itself—the vote showed overwhelming support for the proposition.

Voters also approved a salary of $15,500 for new town manager Kathleen Mercereau, although some pointed out continued on Page Three

New staff takes over at Woodstock town office—Monk is road foreman

With Town Meeting out of the way, and a new budget to work with, staff changes have taken place in Woodstock town government.

Public hearing on Inn condos draws large crowd

It was the largest crowd in recent memory to attend a Planning Board public hearing.

The matter was the proposal by The Bethel Inn to construct 40 townhouse condominiums on its property adjacent to NTL. The time was last Wednesday night, and the place was the Telstar lecture hall, which was crowded with 183 people—mostly from Bethel, but also from nearby communities.

Town Clerk Merton Brown said he has never received so many inquiries at the town office concerning a proposed development.

Former selectman and present director of the Bethel Historical Society, Stan Howe, said what makes the Inn proposal so important for Bethel residents is that, "People have a real proprietary feeling about the (National Historic) District," which encompasses Broad Street and The Bethel Inn.

The planned townhouses are part of a planned general expansion of facilities at the Inn. The heart of the expansion will be the growth of the present nine-hole continued on Page Two

Andover voters rescind action on new fire truck

Just three weeks after voting $102,000 for a new fire truck, Andover voters last night (Tuesday) rescinded that action.

The special town meeting, called by petition of the citizens, overturned the vote of annual town meeting. The vote to rescind the authority to purchase a new fire truck was 60-22.

The strong turnout at the special town meeting came despite the floods, which cut off East Andover from Andover proper, and made travel from other parts of town difficult.

Instead of authorizing purchase of a new truck, voters authorized the setting up of a committee to look into the question. The committee is composed of one selectman (Arthur Myshra), Fire Chief Ken Dixon, one member of the Budget Committee (Al Legault), and two or

Planning Board to tackle draft of site plan review ordinance

The Bethel Planning Board expects to sit down with its Land Use Ordinance Review Subcommittee next Wednesday night to discuss the subcommittee's draft of a site plan review ordinance for the town. The draft was given to the Planning Board, and to other town officials, two weeks ago after months of study and drafting by the subcommittee.

The model used by the subcommittee was a sample ordinance prepared by the Maine Municipal Association. This was altered to suit local conditions and needs. The draft ordinance, in the words of the letter of transmittal by the subcommittee, "would give this Planning Board and future Planning Boards the necessary tools for unbiased review of any future site plans for land or building use."

The purpose of the ordinance "is to insure an orderly growth of the town and to minimize the adverse effects of that growth when caused by development." The only forms of development covered by the ordinance are multi-unit, commercial and industrial development. The subcommittee recommended to the Planning Board that other ordinances should also be drafted to cover single and two-family development, as well as campgrounds, tire dumps, etc.

The ordinance, if adopted by Town Meeting—which is expected to get a chance to vote on it this June, would cover new construction or change of use of existing structures.

Performance standards regarding new construction or change of use of existing structures include such general provisions as:

• The proposed development will not adversely affect the adjoining neighborhood or change its character;

• The proposed structures shall relate harmoniously to the terrain and to existing buildings in the vicinity;

• The development will not have an unreasonably adverse impact on municipal services, including municipal continued on Page Two

To the Editor:

After reading Mrs. Emery's letter addressed to me in this week's Citizen, I feel I need reply to the public once again. I did not notice in your short note, where you stated where you drew your assumptions from—and just whether or not you retracted your original statements. I believe in most cases, when researching in science or medicine, it is customary to have one's information based upon concrete detail. I for one, would be interested to know from what material you got your information. I would be delighted to read it also.

Yes, Mrs. Emery I did misquote you so far as the prevalence of the history books were concerned, mainly because I was so astounded by your other statements. But I for the rest of the Bryant history—I was very careful to procure the correct dates from Dr. Lapham's History, and quoted directly from his authentic material.

As for "visiting" at the historical society, if the occasion arises and the time is opportune, I would deem it a pleasure to do so, for you see I am proud of my father, Lester, and his contributions to the town and of my dear grandfather, Horatio, and wife Eva, the daughter of Rufus K. Dunham and the things these good God fearing people stood for in the early beginnings of the town.

I am certainly not a historian, Mrs. Emery, nor do I profess to be one, but I can read Dr. Lapham's History and stand upon his information as bare fact. I would pray that the facts in any future forewords be presented correctly—and past misinformation be retracted.

Incidentally, any interested persons can research for themselves the history of the Bryant family at the Whitman Memorial Library, and find there that I quoted said facts correctly and most precisely from the Lapham History. I rest my case.

As I see it . . .

When the sun rose this morning, many in Maine still slept. It will set this evening in the dark. When T.S. Elliot said, "April is the cruelest month," he might have been talking about the absence of Daylight Savings Time.

But April is cruel no more. Last May, the United States Senate passed my legislation which extended Daylight Savings Time into April—allowing millions of Americans to enjoy sunlit evenings. The bill was signed into law in July 1986. This year, on April 5, we will all move our clocks ahead one hour, three weeks earlier than we did in years past.

Benjamin Franklin was one of the first proponents of daylight saving time. It is said that he awoke one morning in Paris in 1784 to a room filled with sunlight and realized that many Parisians spent sunlit hours sleeping, but candles while awake at night. Franklin later wrote:

"It is impossible that a wise people would have made use of unhealthy and expensive candlelight if they had only known as I have just learned that they can have for nothing the beautiful and pure light of the sun."

Franklin encouraged the use of sunlight rather than candles by proposing—although fortunately, not seriously—a tax on window shutters, the rationing of candles, and the firing of cannons in the streets at sunrise to awaken the citizens.

The essence of Franklin's idea remains true today. However, over 200 years later, it is no longer simply candlelight that is wasted.

Although Daylight Saving Time was first used in World Wars I and II as a way to conserve energy, the Uniform Time Act of 1966 implemented national daylight saving time for a six-month period. As a response to the 1973 oil crisis, Congress enacted the Emergency Daylight Saving Time Energy Conserva-

To the Editor:

[This is an open letter to Steve Wight.] Once again, you and your crew concluded this winter in grand fashion, with yet another Pole, Paddle, and Paw. I don't remember the first year of inception, but it doesn't matter. What matters are the memories. The memories of the fun, the laughter, and, most importantly, the people whom we share all those good times with.

I can remember the very first time the race was run. My good friend and teammate, Roger Smith, and I were sure bets to win. We showed up at the race early that morning dressed in the latest "Combat Zone" fashions, mapping out strategies for the Iron Brigade that was about to take place. There was only one problem in all our youthful cockiness: we forgot to review the snow shoeing section of the course and ended up getting lost, only to get chased back to the Inn by a bunch of billy goats high in pursuit! We were disqualified, as Roger explained to Tim Carter and Sonny Hastings, the eventual winners: "We got our 'butts kicked,' or 'butts butted,'" as I remember.

I remember Tim and Jodie Carter entering one year. I can still hear Tim: "Draw Jodie, Draw!" as they splashed their way down the river. How about the time when Tony Butters and David Korhonen were in such a rush to get into the river that they totally forgot to take their canoe! I'm sure Denise Gauthier and Eileen Alwynd can emphasize. A select few might remember Roger just beginning the snow shoe section one year. We had just dumped our canoe not 100 feet from the finish of the canoe section in flesh-numbing water. We both attached our snow shoes and began to trot. Roger, being in such a hurry and numb from the experience in the water, did not notice that his soaked lycra knickers were working their way down to his ankles. That episode brightened up a few spectators' day.

I could go on and on about the memories of past years' Pole, Paddle, and Paws, and I'm sure anyone who's been in one could tell countless others. It's become a tradition, a chance to get together with old friends as well as make new ones. Now that another winter has been concluded, I look forward to next year. What will it bring? I hope they tie those goals up. Roger, don't forget those suspenders. Denise and Eileen, I think wet suits would make a wonderful costume for next year. Steve, Matt, John, family and all those responsible for the race, thank you.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

The Bethel Rotary Club held its breakfast meeting on Tuesday, March 31, at Martha's Restaurant.

Visiting Rotarian joining with the group on Tuesday was Mike Thurston of the Rumford Club.

President Dave discussed the status of the Polio Plus program. The Bethel club's contribution to the program was also highlighted. Fund raising projects will be developed in support of Polio Plus goals.

Rotary information was presented by Bob Saunders. Bob talked about the upcoming Spanish student exchange program and some of the scheduled activities planned. A big effort on the part of the club will be necessary to insure the success of this aggressive program.

The program chairman at this meeting was Leon Pavreau. Leon talked about the forestation and recreation goals of the National Forest Service. Leon is a local wood processor, manufacturing furniture stock. The opening of the Forest Service lands to heavier harvesting of the lumber resource seems to have been hampered by the designation of protected areas by the Forest Service.

Members of the board of directors are reminded that the next board meeting will be held at Casco Northern Bank at 5 p.m. on Monday, April 6.

Romeo Baker is back with the Rotary Club from his bout with surgery. He looks better than ever and is raring to go. Welcome back, Romeo.

tion Act, extending it to 10 months in 1974, and eight months in 1975.

Daylight Saving Time has proven to be an effective method of conserving energy. The Department of Transportation's study on the impact of the 1974 daylight saving time extension found that the equivalent of 100,000 barrels of oil was saved each day. More than 2 million barrels of oil will be saved with the three-week extension.

Another direct benefit of daylight time is fewer traffic fatalities. Department of Transportation analysts believe that traffic fatalities are reduced by nearly 2 percent under Daylight Saving Time.

Finally, Daylight Saving Time deters crime. According to the National Crime Survey of the Departments of Justice and Commerce, the most serious crimes are committed in the evening or at night, rather than in the early morning hours. Criminals prefer to work under cover of darkness. Taking away an hour of darkness in the evening helps deter crime.

Sunrises in April under Daylight Saving Time also will occur around the same times as those from mid-August to mid-September. In fact, they will be lighter than many mornings under Standard Time from mid-November to mid-February, alleviating any concerns for the safety of school children on their way to school.

Daylight Saving Time will allow all of us to enjoy three more weeks of evening strolls, safer commuting, softball games, and gardening. After Maine's long and difficult winter, I think we'll all welcome lower energy bills and more productive sunlit evening hours.

Remember: On [Sunday] April 5 at 2 a.m. (or before you go to bed) turn your clocks ahead one hour. Enjoy the sunshine.

—George Mitchell, U.S. Senate

County Soil and Water Conservation District wants to be recognized

Most people don't know what a conservation district does, officials of the Oxford County Soil and Water Conservation District claim. They contend that most area people don't even know that Oxford County has a Soil and Water Conservation District.

They point out that the county's district has been in existence since 1946, and is located in the Agriculture Service Center, at 1 Main St., South Paris. Soil and Water Conservation Districts were created nationally after the Dust Bowl catastrophe in the 1930s to assist local farmers manage their land so that erosion and soil loss would be minimized.

The Soil and Water Conservation District was organized under the auspices of the State Soil and Water Conservation Commission, and is a collection of landowners working with the Soil Conservation Service to provide conservation planning and technical assistance for the people of the county. The district is run by a board of volunteers, called supervisors, and is chaired by Roger Smedberg, of Oxford.

The SWCD doesn't serve only farmers; only one-third of the case load of the district is in agriculture. The rest of the work is done for developers and non-agricultural landowners. The staff of the district is there to work with the public to properly manage the natural resources they own. Persons with questions about better management of the natural resources they own can contact the district at 743-7019.

PLANNING BOARD TO TACKLE

road systems, fire and police protection, emergency medical unit, solid waste program, schools, open spaces, recreational programs and facilities, etc.

However, "The Planning Board may modify or waive any of the above... performance standards when the Planning Board determines that because of the special circumstances of the site such standards would not be applicable or would be an unnecessary burden upon the applicant and not adversely affect the abutting landowners and the general health, safety and welfare of the Town."

The subcommittee spent much of its time working out specific requirements for new developments. Some of the most fundamental requirements include:

- In multi-family developments on lots with town water and sewer, the maximum number of dwelling units per acre shall be 10, while the total foot print of the dwelling units shall not exceed 40 percent of the total land area, and a minimum of 40 percent of the land area shall be utilized as open space;
- In multi-family developments on lots with town water but not town sewer, the maximum number of dwelling units per acre shall be four, while the total foot print of the dwelling units shall not exceed 20 percent of the total land area, and a minimum of 40 percent of the land area shall be left as open space;
- In multi-family developments on lots without town water or sewer, the maximum number of dwelling units per acre shall be two, while the total foot print of the dwelling units shall not exceed 7 percent of the total land area, and a minimum of 40 percent of the land areas shall be left as open space.

Parking requirements for all multi-family developments would be a minimum of two parking spaces for the first bedroom plus one parking space for each additional bedroom. For inns and motels, the parking requirement is one space for each bedroom plus one for each employee. For bed and breakfast establishments, the requirement is one parking space per guest room plus two parking spaces for the residents and one parking space for each employee. Lodging facilities with dormitory rooms must, in addition, allow one parking space for every two sleeping spaces in the dormitory.

Commercial establishments must provide one parking space for every 200 square feet of retail or display space. Restaurants and drinking establishments must provide one parking space for each three seats. Banks and other service institutions must provide a minimum of 10 parking spaces for customers plus one for each employee.

Setback requirements for most of the developments addressed in the ordinance are 30 feet in the front and 20 feet on the side and rear. Building heights are generally limited to 2½ stories, except in the case of industrial developments.

Commercial and industrial establishments with dumpsters must screen such trash storage.

Signs used by any establishment must not obstruct the view of neighbors and must not extend above the ridge line of a building or be elevated over 25 feet above grade. In areas where the speed limit is less than 35 miles per hour the signs shall not exceed 12 square feet. In areas where the speed limit is 35 miles per hour or greater, the signs shall not exceed 22 square feet. Flashing, neon, or revolving signs are prohibited, as are trailer signs, and an establishment is limited to having two signs.

Given the increasing use of solar energy, town officials may further restrict height and setback requirements of a development to guarantee solar rights to an abutting property.

Private roads in developments need not conform to town road specifications. However, these roads will not be maintained by the town until such time that they do meet town standards and are accepted by Town Meeting.

According to the draft ordinance, an applicant whose project does not meet all the standards and specifications of the ordinance may be granted a variance by the Board of Appeals. The crucial points in granting a variance are: undue hardship and unique circumstances applying to the property. A variance is not justified unless both elements are present in the case, the ordinance states, and financial hardship alone shall not constitute grounds for granting a variance.

Aside from the draft site plan review ordinance, the subcommittee also submitted for the Planning Board's consideration a draft ordinance to deal with disturbances not addressed in the site plan review. The additional ordinance—which would have a lifespan of just one year, until specific other ordinances could be developed—would state: "Any use which is found by the Planning Board golf course into a championship 18-hole course.

The course, designed by Jeff Cornish, a noted golf course designer from Massachusetts, will cost $1 million to construct, according to Inn spokesman John Laban, who made the application presentation at the public hearing.

The cost of the golf course will be paid from revenues generated by the sale of the 40 townhouses, at prices starting around $125,000, Mr. Laban said.

He pointed out that the Inn's business has been profitable the past two years, and in order to continue growing, the Inn will have to be able to offer golfers a championship course.

He said that continued growth of the Inn's business is good for the town as a whole, in that it means more jobs at the Inn and more taxes for the town.

While many in the audience commended the Inn management for rescuing a dying institution, and turning it once again into an attractive establishment, others felt that the addition of 40 new residences in the historic district would begin to destroy the charm of the town.

Bryan Adams, who owns a home abutting the golf course, said, "My wife and I bought up here (in 1984) because of its uniqueness." He said he hadn't expected to see a new intersection on his street (for access to the project), and he worried that the 40 units might someday become 200.

Sally Rollinson, who purchased the Newton residence on Broad Street last year and turned it into an attractive bed and breakfast establishment—The Hammons House—said, "I'm terribly concerned by any changes in the National Historic District. I think it would be a dangerous precedent. How can we, in good conscience, make such a change in the historic district?"

Mary Valentine was concerned over the additional flow of cars coming out of the parking lot behind the 40 townhouses. And Ned Hastings, whose home is next to The Elms, worried about the future: "After 40 condominiums, what will happen next? What if this expansion goes on and on?"

Much of the discussion focused on the proposed access road, which is planned to intersect Broad Street through the property of Anne and Ray Moran. To build the access road, the Moran's barn will have to be taken down.

Stan Howe said: "I see the destruction of the barn as a symbol of what will happen to Broad Street and to Bethel itself. This is the beginning of the end. It's a precedent, and an important precedent. Once you begin to lose the historic identity of Broad Street you begin to lose the identity of the town."

The Inn's John Laban pointed out that an access road through the Moran property was the best alternative of a half-dozen alternatives considered. The others would have either caused greater inconvenience for Broad Street residents or greater inconvenience for townhouse guests, or were prohibitively costly.

Merton Brown, speaking as a private citizen, responded that the townhouse project could be moved to a different part of the Inn property, and an access road would then not affect the historic district.

Mr. Brown wondered aloud if Inn management was not planning further expansion. He said municipal services were already strained to the limit and further development on the part of individuals would have an adverse effect on taxpayers and on the quality of life in the town. "When the developers leave with money in their pockets—and if the bottom falls out of the real estate market—who will be left to look after the mess and pay the bills—those of us who are now paying and whose families have been paying for generations."

But for each speaker against the project, there was at least one supporter of the application. Barbara D. Brown said, "Here we have the eighth largest employer in the area (with 60 full-time and 40 part-time employees). We should have some concern for them too."

Ted Chadbourn said, "I cannot conceive of them coming up with a plan that would have less impact than their proposal."

Bob Chadbourn commended the Inn ownership for healthy development to constitute a public nuisance by reason of the emission of dust, fumes, gas, smoke, odor, noise, vibrations or other disturbances shall be expressly prohibited."

After working intensely on the site plan review for three months, the subcommittee is anxious to see some form of such an ordinance adopted. It urged its parent board, "that this Ordinance be addressed at the Town Meeting in June 1987—any delay will only compound any of the problems facing Bethel."

TAKING A ROLLER COASTER RIDE, Eileen Aylward and Denise Gauthier go through some rapids on their voyage down the Sunday River in Saturday's Pole, Paddle and Paw race. The Telstar teammates capsized further down the river and were unable to complete the race as their paddles floated away.

POLE, PADDLE AND PAW

The idea of the race is to see how fast each team of two can survive the rigors of skiing from the inn to the covered bridge, running rapids on the icy Sunday River, and then clambering a half-mile from the riverbank back to the inn in snowshoes.

The fastest survivors were Eric Hastings and Paul Morton (in the men's division), Ann Speth and Roger Smith (in the mixed couples division), and Susan Brooks and Laurie Vogt (in the women's division). Winning times, respectively, in hours, minutes and seconds, were: 1:29:10, 1:33:51, and 1:59:56.

A half-dozen of the teams capsized their canoes in the Sunday River. One of the teams—Denise Gauthier and Eileen Aylward—lost their paddles during a capsize and could not complete the race. (They had been the leaders in the women's division prior to the capsize.) Otherwise, all competitors finished.

Winners received clothing, and all entrants received printed tee shirts. The combined time averages for each team were as follows:

WOODSTOCK TOWN MEETING

that this was considerably higher than the salary that had been discussed when the new form of government was suggested—and approved—last year. Outgoing Selectman Cliff York explained that a qualified person could not be found for the lower salaries that had been discussed.

Mr. York had earlier indicated his intention to step down from the board, with one year remaining of his three-year term. Former Selectman Ethel Davis was elected, without opposition, to serve for the remaining year of Mr. York's term.

State Sen. Don Twitchell (D-Norway) was on hand to give Mr. York a certificate from the Legislature for his years of service to the town.

Selectman Gary Wing, who had earlier been undecided about whether to seek re-election, did indeed run and won against a challenge by Paul Hillquist, 81-38.

Margaret Hand was the only nominee for a three-year term on the district school board. She replaces Sheryl Wilbur, who did not seek re-election.

Kathleen Bean was elected library trustee without opposition.

Other matters occasioned more discussion. The acceptance by the town of the elementary school and the setting aside of $10,000 for renovation work in the annex (which will serve as the town office), had some people wondering what the money would be used for. Mr. York explained it would be a fund from which money could be drawn after it was decided what sort of renovation needed to be undertaken.

Voters had a choice when it came to the road budget. The selectmen had recommended $110,000, while the budget committee recommended $100,000—the same as last year. (However, last year's budget included the road commissioner's salary. This year, the town manager's salary covers the road commissioner's position as well.) Voters first defeated a motion to accept the selectmen's recommendations; they then approved the budget committee's recommendation.

The closest vote of the evening was a 50-44 split in favor of re-opening Church Street to truck traffic. The selectmen had closed the street last year following complaints by people on that street. They placed the article to re-open the street on the warrant at the request of a local trucker. What surprised onlookers was the fact that there was no discussion on the matter, although the close vote made it clear that there are strong feelings in the town on the subject.

After the vote Selectman George Hooper said it was still the selectmen's responsibility to maintain public safety in the town. "I'm not sure a vote of the people can open that road," he said. The voters amended an article that would have assessed late charges on taxes not paid by Sept. 1. That was changed to Dec. 1.

Voters accepted the budget committee's recommendations regarding a total of $5,517 to be raised and allocated for 11 area business, health and educational service organizations.

Voters approved a proposed amendment to the Shoreland Zoning Ordinance, increasing the lot-size requirement.

Voters declined to go along with a proposal to investigate the use of the proposed stump dump as a septic disposal site.

Voters approved funds to pursue the Lake Road legal controversy if other measures fail.

Approval was also given to researching additional burial land for the town. The evening ended with applause for outgoing Town Clerk Pam House.

Mt. Abram announces summer building plans

Mt. Abram Ski Slopes will continue its successful venture into the condominium market. Spokesperson Jean Anton said the Locke Mills skiway plans to construct an additional 24 townhouse condominiums in its Birch Road Condominium area adjacent to the slopes. Last summer the skiway built 16 units which all sold before completion and which had an excellent record of rentals during the season.

The 24 units to be built this summer were approved by the Greenwood Planning Board long before the moratorium against multi-family housing was voted into place by town meeting last month.

Also already approved by the Planning Board are plans for an additional 24 units to be built after the 1987-88 season.

A project that didn't make it to the Planning Board prior to the imposition of the moratorium was a preliminary plan presented by two Greenwood residents for a 100-unit subdivision. No concrete plans were presented, nor was an application made by the developers, according to Planning Board member Marie Bartlett.

Skiway access road cost a total of $158,817

The new skiway access road, in Newry, cost a total of $158,817, according to a bill presented by the state to the Town of Newry.

The road project was to have been split 50/50/50 among the state, the town and the skiway, however skiway president Les Otten had said last year the resort would be willing to pay a larger share than Newry in case of cost overruns.

Newry voters last year allocated $35,000 for the project, which was completed this past fall.

The state has agreed to pay $79,408.50, according to the bill received by the Newry selectmen, while Newry's share will be the $35,000 allocated. The skiway will pay the remainder—$44,408.50—according to the bill.

The Newry selectmen, at their meeting yesterday (Tuesday), decided to ask CMF to install a street light at Newry Corner. This was voted at annual Town Meeting.

Bill Stowell, of the skiway, will meet with the Planning Board tonight (Wednesday) to present the resort's sewage treatment plans, which are currently before the state Department of Environmental Protection for approval.

Patricia C. Doon, for selectman and assessor.

"Obedience to the Heavenly Vision" was Rev. Mariotte Churchill's sermon topic on March 22. Scout Sunday was observed. Youth Group met in the evening and in the morning the choir rehearsed Easter music. Friday at 3 p.m. is adult choir practice. Deacon on call this week is Merton Perkins, 392-4041.

Monday night, March 23, a good sized Mr. or Mrs. Moose came to call at the Elderwood Manor. It looked like the sign over the entrance was about to enter the parking lot when a car passing on Main Street frightened it or helped change its mind and it sauntered off into the field by the Myshalls home.

The snow at the ski area is going fast, but the skiing is still superb. Agony is at its bumpy best.

Ann Friedlander celebrated her birthday Sunday at the Sudbury Inn. Joining her were her children, Karen, Lisa and Diane, Burt Mills, Alan Fleet, Mark and Cindy Ellander, Nat Putnam, Reb Jalbert, Bill, Chantelle, Chris Rose, and Leigh Breidenbach. Pizza and a chicken cake were served, and a good time was had by all. Ann is moving back to Massachusetts this week for her summer landscaping business.

David Fleet was in town this week checking up on his children. It was good to see him again. He'll be back in a few weeks.

The Penley family is back from Colorado, but will be moving to Norway Lake in a few weeks. Colin has turned in to a super skier this winter.

Diane Friedlander is getting her wisdom teeth removed this week, we can only hope it will be an improvement.

at the home of the newlyweds. Ms. Degan was given in marriage by her son John Degan Jr. The couple plan a trip to Maine soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Farrington of Bath are receiving congratulations on the birth of their second son Jan. 31 at a Brunswick hospital. He has been named Andrew Timothy and he weighed 7 lbs. 14 oz. He joins a brother James who is two years old. Sharing honors as grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lester White and Mrs. Elizabeth Sennett.

Mark and Scott Farrington drove a truck with Mark's in-laws, Mr. and Mrs. Alden Briggs' household goods to Homelands Springs, Fla. They left March 16 and returned by plane March 16. On their way they visited their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hall and family in Bethel, Conn., and another aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Offhaus in Fayetteville, N.C.

Andover Public Library will be holding some special events to celebrate National Library Week, April 5-11. On Thursday, April 9, they will hold open house from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. with refreshments being served throughout the day. They will also announce the essay contest winner at 3 o'clock that day. Saturday, April 11, at 2 p.m. Debbie Cayer Bean will be giving a talk on taking care of your pet. Children and adults are welcome to attend. They will also have an amnesty week. Now would be a good time to get those overdue books back. There will be a book sale and magazine sale during the week.

Registration date for kindergarten students in Andover is April 15 at the elementary school. Parents are reminded to bring the child to be registered, a birth certificate that the school may keep and an immunization record from a clinic, doctor or nurse. Registration forms will be mailed out the first of April. If you do not get a form by April 7 and you have a child to register, please call Marge Bartlett, SAD #4 district nurse, at 824-2138.

When you stop, think, and consider the outdoors; everywhere you look there are dozens of chances to enjoy life. The opening music of Maine's year begins with the return of light, the return of warmth, and the unsealing of the waters of the earth. Above the ice lies puddles whose reflected quiet is a promise of open water soon to come.

I'm just back from snowshoeing on crisp snow and under a brilliant blue Maine sky. It was so blue, pure, and cloudless that it looked as if it had been made fresh just for today. I could see forever; the air was so clear. It was also a dry cold, about 28 degrees with a cutting edge from a northwest wind. The snow, so white sparkled with riches—diamonds.

I came to the woods where there was no full sun. The trees sheltered me from the cutting wind. Tiny tracks were about; a foraging mouse, a rabbit, and some birds.

I snowshoed out of the woods to a road. The strong sun was at my back and making great shadows across the snow. I became a giant, 12 feet tall. I held out my ski poles and my shadow measured 15 feet wide. What a snow monster to be, strolling this road.

I stopped to listen to the silence of the woods, so absolute and strange to my ears. How different from last night when I was disturbed by the shrill whooping of an owl. His home is in the lonely solitude of the woods across the pond. His ghostly call made the woods reverberate with the echo of his whoo-hoo-whoo-whoo, which is enough to frighten an army.

Few sounds awaken such terror, as it breaks upon the ear in the stillness and loneliness of a midnight hour. Having heard it many times over the years I knew this intruder—or was he?

Soon there came the calls of the chickadees from a massive brush pile, and the tom-tom call of the woodpecker. On my return I looked at the path of lace I had made in the whiteness of the snow.

A flock of red-polls appeared, as I neared home. They had been around for several weeks. They have the habit of appearing in flocks. Sometimes I think they believe I'm a post or a tree. If I stand perfectly still, I may find myself the center of the group. Blink an eye and away they go. Another minute and they whirl over my head and light down all around me. This gives a good chance to see the little red cap they wear, the fluffy white underneath and a pretty pink apron on the males. Are they the housekeepers? How adorable they are!

I hadn't traveled miles but it had been a pleasant thing to hold and to enjoy in a way that I like.

Fay Holt entertained the Tuesday club this week at her home. Those attending were Marian Pulsifer, Dorothy Betts, Kate Tammen, Anna Jarvenpaa, Colista Morgan and the hostess, Fay Holt. On Tuesday Albert Curtis took his

The children and staff enjoyed a week of spring fun, at the children's center. Tuesday was word day. The children chose a word to wear and share for the day. Wednesday was hat day. We wore quite a variety of original and hats. Thursday, favorite color day, we dressed in our favorite color. And we finished the week off by dressing up in our "Sunday Best," on Friday.

Other activities we enjoyed are play dough, hat making, marker drawings, small and large blocks, housekeeping, table toys, and our new exercise area.

Pretty, blue eyed Bethany Ridlon has been our most recent shining star. Beth did a superb job sharing her family and favorites.

The next parent meeting is April 7. Dave Walton will be discussing "Problem Solving in Families."

parents, Fred and Rena Curtis and me to Portland where I had an eye check and visited brother, Ernest Curtis, who is still a patient at Maine Medical Center. We found him some better this time.

I attended the Oxford County Retired Teachers with Lettie Brooks at South Paris on Saturday. After the meeting we called at Stephens Memorial Hospital to visit Ernest Mundy who is a patient there.

Fred and Rena Curtis were in Lewiston one day this week where Fred had a check up with his doctor.

Mrs. Marian Pulsifer left March 23 with her daughter, Sharon, and will go by bus to Lamour, N.D., to visit her son and family who recently moved there from Alaska, where he has been for several years.

Sally and Mary Holt visited at the farm on Saturday. Mary, age 3, had called me Friday evening to ask, "Are you going to be at home tomorrow, Aunt Clis?" I told her that I planned to be gone part of the day.

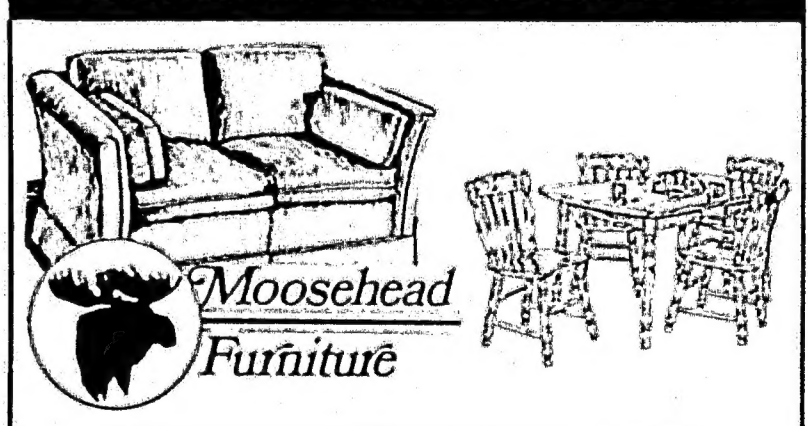

"What time will you be home?" was her next question.

I said, "Four o'clock." "That's a good number," was her reply. It was, for she came then and brought me some daffodils.

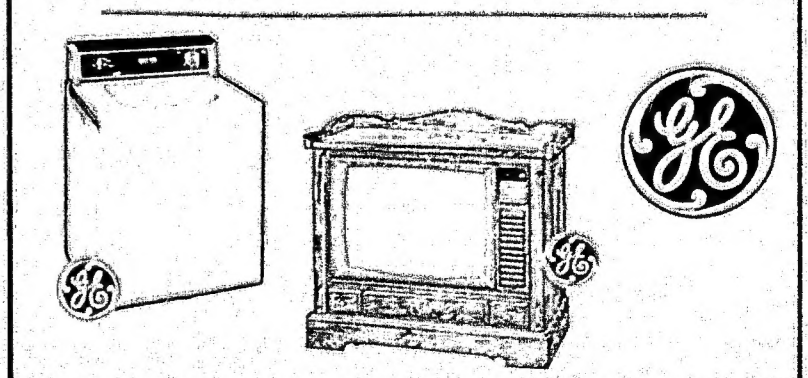

Eleanor Inman called to visit me one day this week. She also called on Dot Betts. She reminded me that spring has come and that she and Milton will soon be back to their cottage. It will be nice to have a close neighbor again.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis were in Freeport on Sunday to visit their daughter, Lillian, and husband, Glenn Straut. Several other members of the family joined them.

EBS/CPS Kids' World

By LAURIE BERGERON

The second grade students from Ethel Bisbee School have visited Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway this week. There they saw a film of the hospital with explanation of the use of the rooms and facilities. Mrs. Dawn talked to students about their responsibilities in keeping their bodies healthy. Students then enjoyed a tour of the hospital which included for some students, their first elevator ride! Mrs. Coolidge's class had an especially enjoyable bus ride to and from the hospital as they were joined in Woodstock by Mrs. Seames' second grade with whom they've been pen pals this year. It was great for the kids to sit and chat with their pen pals and "swap letters" verbally.

All of the kids in Mrs. Baldwin's fourth grade have published at least one (and many have published several) book this year. Congratulations to these aspiring young authors!

Besides their books, Mrs. Baldwin's students have responded to a second batch of letters from their pen pals. With much appreciated help from Mrs. Chapman, the students have gathered special information on our state for their pen pals. They mailed homemade maps of Maine, Sunday River maps and a Bethel area supplement published by the COW.

Miss Merrill's third grade has completed a science unit on the Solar System. They have been moon watching and have each charted the moon's shape nightly throughout March.

Jessica Coolidge brought her classmates and Miss Merrill a special treat from the Museum of Science in Boston—astronaut ice cream! The ice cream never melts and was not cold, but it was tasty! Students were reminded about the sometimes mysterious and amazing ways of science!

Mrs. Ellsworth's Chapter One students, "The Keyboard Kids," will be opening a store on April 1. Their store will be open Wednesdays from 11:50 to 12:15 in the school library. Students will be able to purchase used items and computer-made cards and crafts. Most items will be $1 or less.

Mrs. Seames' second graders celebrated St. Patrick's Day in the green. Monica Rolfe and Amos Hausman-Rogers were the greenest winners in the "wearing of the green" contest. Their green papers were each decorated with Ireland's flower and a shamrock. In "mash," students counted gold in their "Pot of Gold," but not rainbows appeared! Creative writing was titled "If I Were a Leprechaun." The students enjoyed Irish music and a social studies lesson about Ireland and St. Patrick. Each child made an Irish flag and leprechauns appeared during art class. Thanks to Cathy Morgan and her mom the class had lastly shamrock cookies. Need we wonder whether or not Mrs. Seames is Irish?

Some wonderful Crescent Park School students raised $1,376.32 in a recent Math-a-thon for St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital. Nancy Morgan, who raised $140, and Nathan Moore, who raised $102.40, were top winners and will each be awarded with a tote bag. Congratulations to Nancy, Nathan and all these students whose hard work has produced fantastic results: Lloyd Sweetser, Koral Smith, Amy Howe, Laura Seames, Adrienne Vail, Jessica Reynolds, Joel Ruley, Jennifer Bean, Melissa Howe, Theresa Gibson, Cindy Wheeler, Alexan-

NOTES FROM

Telstar Guidance

The following seniors have recently received news regarding their post secondary plans:

Melissa Pilgrim, daughter of Shirley Pilgrim, Lynn, Mass., and Robert Pilgrim of West Bethel has received acceptance in the Travel and Tourism program in The Boyd School, Pittsburg, Pa.

Scott Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Stevens of Bethel, was accepted in the Electromechanical Technology program at CHVTI in Auburn.

Today, April 1 is the extended deadline for all Telstar Regional High School juniors and seniors to complete and pass in all Career Week project paperwork to their respective advisors. An estimated 150 students will participate in this year's five day career exploration program, which is scheduled April 6-10.

Juniors are also participating in the Maine Educational Assessment Testing, March 31 through April 2. Mr. Hart and Bill Morton are administering this eight hour test, which measures scholastic achievement in the areas of reading, writing, essays, writing conventions, mathematics, science, social studies, humanities language. A state mandated test, the Maine Educational Assessment will demonstrate strengths and weaknesses of Telstar Regional High School curriculum, instructional areas and grade 11 students' abilities in those areas specified. Mr. Hart will provide interpretation workshops for juniors upon the return of the test results in late May/early June. Parents will also receive in the mail a booklet of test data, highlighting their individual student's performance, the junior class and state wide testing results.

Grade 9 and 10 students will each receive special workshops provided jointly by the guidance office and high school faculty, during the week of April 6. Freshman students will participate in Freshman Awareness follow up workshop, provided by the peer helper team—FACT. All grade 9 students will partake of small group discussions, receive career information presentations and watch a self esteem movie. The FACT team, made up of Mrs. Berry, Mrs. Hannon, Mr. Hart, Mr. Raymond, Mr. Abbott, Mr. Keane and 30 high school students, are looking forward to this follow up program, after a two day workshop at Sunday River last September.

Sophomore students will receive a two session career decision-making program. Initially, various career presentations consisting of visiting community members, movies, or department structured activities, demonstrating the importance of occupational opportunities and career decision making, will be provided by physical education, business, science, math, and social studies classes. The high school faculty is instrumental in programming this unique project.

Secondly, Mr. Hart is jointly implementing the Maine Occupational Information Coordinating Consortium's (MOICC) research component, which will evaluate the impact of career information systems on guidance program planning, instruction, counseling and student opinions. On April 7 and 8, Mr. Hart will provide sophomores with MOICC's Employability and Work/Family Integration Survey. This survey will later provide two and five year follow up components for the Class of '89. Basically this survey will inquire of students background, ideals, choices, and information seeking resources in relation to career decision-making. Sophomores will also take the Harrington O'Shea Career Decision Making Survey (CDM), an interest inventory, as part of the project. Nevertheless, Mr. Hart has provided the CDM Interest Survey, for juniors, the past five years. This survey is a career making resource, pro-

Peter Grant and son of Yarmouth spent a day recently with his grandmother, Ann Mason.

Jonathan and Rowena Stowell of Shirley, Mass., spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gilbert.

George and Harriett Stowell had lunch last Wednesday with George and Mary Stowell of Falmouth before keeping an appointment in Portland.

Other callers at Ann Mason's this past week have been Mr. and Mrs. Robert Everett of Newport News, Va., and Lulu Calhoun and Gwenivieve Trask of Norway.

Shana Walker celebrated her seventh birthday on March 27 with a dinner out at a Gorham restaurant with family and friends.

vided as an objective of the high school guidance program.

The third quarter ranking period ends Friday, April 3, for juniors and seniors. However, third quarter grades close Friday, April 10 for grades 9 and 10. The guidance office recommends both parents and high school students keep abreast of class work performance through their teachers. Extra help sessions with teachers and peer tutors have been beneficial to many students earlier in the school year. Yet, as the school year approaches the last nine week quarter, individual students must be responsible and take the initiative to either improve or maintain his/her class class performance and attitude.

Pre-school kindergarten registration in SAD #44 during week of April 13

The dates and locations for pre-school kindergarten registration in SAD #44 are as follows:

Monday and Tuesday, April 13 and 14: Bethel area students will register at the Legion Hall on Vernon Street in Bethel.

Wednesday, April 15: Andover area students will register at the Andover Elementary School.

Thursday, April 16: Bryant Pond students will register at the Woodstock Elementary School.

Parents are reminded to bring not only the child who is to be registered, but a copy of the child's birth certificate, which SAD #44 can keep, and immunization records (from a clinic, doctor, or nurse) as well.

Forms will be mailed the first week in April to parents. If you do not receive a form by April 7, 1987, please call Mrs. Marge Bartlett, SAD #44 District Nurse, at 824-2138.

Opportunities for Preschool Children will be available to screen 3 and 4 year olds not entering school. This is a free developmental screening. For specific times at the site of your registration clinic, please call Mrs. Bartlett at 824-2138 or Sue Ellen Myers at 743-9701.

Upcoming events at Sunday River

Paola Berry, events coordinator at Sunday River Ski Resort, has announced upcoming special events at the Newry resort.

The New England Ski and Sailboard Championships are to be held April 4 and 5. Saturday's activities will be highlighted by a giant slalom race at Sunday River. Sunday, participants will travel to Back Cove in Portland for a sailboard slalom. WIGY-FM will broadcast live from both locations.

Many major television, radio and mes paper personalities from across New England are expected to attend the 2nd Annual Media Ski/Golf Day co-hosted by Sunday River Ski Resort and The Bethel Inn and Country Club, April 12.

Easter Weekend is special family weekend at Sunday River with the traditional Sunrise Mountain Service atop Locke Mountain at 7 a.m. on Sunday, April 19. This season, the service will be open to skiers only. Others wishing to attend a sunrise service may worship at the crest of Paradise hill in Bethel. The United Churches of Bethel conduct the 7 a.m. service. Following the Sunday River Service a hearty Maine breakfast will be served will be served in the Bear Mountain Lodge. A children's Easter egg hunt follows.

With over 11 feet of natural snow and 480,000 tons of man made snow covering the 40 trails, Sunday River plans to ski well into the month of May.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the monthly meeting will be held on Thursday, April 2, in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House beginning at 7:30 p.m. Featured during the program portion of the meeting will be a slide presentation on the history of Mill Hill by Mary C. Keniston. Anyone interested in attending this meeting is cordially invited to do so.

The schedule of monthly meetings of the society for 1987 has been completed by the program committee. January featured the annual "So You Think You Know Bethel"; February, a slide lecture on early churches and meeting houses in Oxford County by Randall H. Bennett, society curator of collections and author of the recent society publication Oxford County, Maine: A Guide to Its Historic Architecture; and in March, the annual historical film festival. April's meeting focuses on the history of one of Bethel's most historic areas, Mill Hill. The remainder of the schedule is as follows: May 7, Ben B. Conant, curator of the Paris Cape Historical Society, "Bethel-Paris Connections"; June 4, "Memories of Melville Dunham: Maine Musician"; July 2, annual picnic, Stanley R. Howe, director, Bethel Historical Society, "Dr. Nathaniel Tuckerman True, 1812-1887: Local Historian"; Aug. 6, "Survey of Maine Archaeological Sites"; Sept. 3, 22nd Annual Meeting, speaker, Arthur M. Johnson, chairman, Maine Commission on the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution, "The Constitution and the Economy"; Oct. 1, Annual "What's It" and Stuart F. Martin, "Oxford County's Vanishing Towns and Villages"; Nov. 3, Geraldine S. Howe, "Railroad Street Through the Years"; Dec. 3, Annual Christmas Program. Featured during the annual meeting this year will be the naming of the first recipient of the Marjorie MacArthur Noll Volunteer Service Award as an outstanding society volunteer.

From the notes of Leonard Chapman it is clear that the first Congregational meeting house was built near the Androscoggin River opposite the residence of R. Glenn Murphy and not on the Common due to the rivalry of two Twitcheil brothers, Eleazer and Eli. Eleazer Twitcheil (1744-1818) built the so-called "Castle" just behind the location of the present Opera House Condominium in 1787 so he was very strongly disposed to having the meeting house near his home. He actually had lumber hauled to the spot on the present-day Common which he had chosen for this very important structure. His brother Eli (1757-1845) lived on a farm near the site of the present Carter Equipment Company in Mayville. He naturally wanted to have the meeting house closer to his place of residence. On Aug. 22, 1806, at a legally notified parish meeting, James Walker, Eleazer's right hand man, was chosen to pass around a subscription paper for a meeting house to be erected where Capt. Eleazer Twitcheil wanted on his "hill" and one by Capt. Eli Twitcheil to be erected in the valley "near Mr. John Stearns," it being agreed that the names and largest amount of subscriptions should choose the location. The meeting then adjourned until the third Monday in September in 1806. On that day when Walker reported for Eleazer Twitcheil he had 11

8-WEEK COURSE AT STEPHENS

An eight-week medical terminology course will be offered through the Health Education Department at Stephens Memorial Hospital on Thursday, from April 23 to June 11, at 7-9 p.m.

For more details, or to register, call Patricia Flynn, Health Education Department, 743-5933, ext. 489.

names on his list and $487 subscribed; Eli Twitcheil reported that he had 22 names and $546 in subscriptions. The recorder of this went concluded his description of the meeting by noting that "the vote to have the house built at Mr. John Stearns' was carried in the affirmative by a great majority." This meant the meeting house was built near the present Verville house on Bridge Street. Eleazer Twitcheil was not happy with this decision and took back his gift of the Common to the West Parish, planting crops here for a number of years. Upon his death, his heirs deeded the property to the West Parish, so that since the 1820s this has served as the town Common. It is interesting to speculate how close the Congregational meeting house came to being built on the Common and would have certainly been erected here but for the efforts of Eli Twitcheil.

Real estate class to be held at Telstar

Prospective home-buyers and sellers, as well as those interested in learning more about the real estate profession, will be interested in the Home-buying and Selling Course to be offered at Telstar Regional High School by the Maine State Housing Authority on Thursday, April 8, for five weeks.

The course, which is one of several being offered by MSHA around the state, features weekly presentations by real estate, legal and financial professionals on all aspects of home-buying and selling, including the role of the real estate agent, financing, appraisals, and legal aspects of the transaction.

SAD #44 Adult and Community Education, which is co-sponsoring the course, served as a pilot site for the course in the fall semester. According to Adult Education Director Cathy Newell, the students in the fall class found the course to be very helpful, and appreciated the excellent presenters and the opportunity to ask questions.

Pre-registration for the class which will run from 7-9 each evening, may be done by calling the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education office, 824-2780.

In charge of purchasing supplies will be Eleanor Inman; dining room will be taken care of by Martha Day and Mary Emery; waitresses will be Peggy Perham, Joyce Lamb and Judy McLaughlin. The workers for the kitchen are not complete as yet. Cynthia Lamb reported that all 18 storm windows for Goodwill Hall have been pledged. The next meeting will be April 27 at Goodwill Hall with a 6 p.m. potluck supper preceding.

The Universalist Church board meeting was held at the home of Mary Emery on Wednesday evening. It was decided to have a cleaning bee at the church April 13 at 5:30. It is hoped that many will turn out with cleaning materials. Plans were also made for a rummage sale to be held April 23, 24 and 25. More on that later, but in the meantime be saving your rummage.

West Paris Firemen's Auxiliary will meet on April 6 at 7 p.m. at the fire station meeting room.

Gregg, Dixie, Audrey and Abby Inman arrived at Albany Camp on Friday evening, March 20. They were joined on Saturday by Peter, Cindy, Missy and Tracie Fox of Stoneham and Larry, Bonnie, Raymond, Troy Fox and Dean Angevine, Lovell, for the remainder of the weekend. Brent Angevine and Mike Fox came late Saturday afternoon and had supper with them.

Louise Coffin returned on Tuesday after spending several days with her daughter and husband in Appleton.

Oxford Hills OM team takes first place at meet

The Oxford Hills High School OM Chain Reaction team, consisting of Beth Burgher, Troy Fox, Andy Dostal, Owen Bradford, and T.J. Munn finished in first place in the Western Regional OM competition at the Auburn Middle School March 14.

The Chain Reaction competition consisted of setting off 50 mousetraps in a domino effect with certain prescribed tasks, which had to be accomplished. The tasks included ringing a bell, raising a flag, starting music playing, propelling a vehicle, and other tasks of the team's choice. These had to be accomplished according to a theme and in a style also chosen by the team.

The team will next compete for the Maine State Championship, at Turner, on April 4. Winners there will go to the World Competition, at Mt. Pleasant, Mich., in May.

SINCERE THANKS

The family of Mary A. Hall wishes to express our sincere thanks to friends, neighbors and relatives for sympathy cards, floral tributes, food and funds in her memory for the Hamford Point Congregational Church. A special thanks to the staff at Cory Inn Nursing Home for their kindness and caring, to Rev. Conroy for his words of comfort, to Arthur Meader for his excellent service and to Dr. Albert Royal and staff.

You've tried the rest,
now try the best!

Agnes Gray School

By MARTA CLEMENTS

Our school walk-a-thon was a grand success. Many thanks to all who supported us in this endeavor. Mr. and Mrs. Fish, for whom we raised the money, have presented their program, which kept us enthralled for the third year in a row. In addition to an assembly for the entire school, individual workshops were held in every classroom. Jeff Sandler and Deb Hall, who portray Mr. and Mrs. Fish in the program, certainly make learning fun! Four students who brought in the most money and the most number of pledges had the opportunity to participate in the assembly, showing some of the ways smaller fish escape being eaten by bigger fish. Laura Hall, a slippery eel, Todd Bouchard, a speedy tuna, Daniella Westleigh, a sea cucumber and Jason Bradeen, a large sunfish, demonstrated their ways of protecting themselves.

Laura, Todd, Daniella and Jason received certificates for a job well done, along with Chester Beauchesne, Jason Eastman, kindergarten Susan Herrick (who had the highest number of pledges in the whole school) and Vernon Inman and Kim Kangas.

Today, April 1, in addition to being a good day to pull jokes on your friends, is also kindergarten registration in West Paris. If you have, or know someone who has, a child entering kindergarten next fall, please bring them to the Legion Memorial School from noon to 4 p.m. today. Children will be screened for vision, hearing and overall school readiness. Also, please bring your child's immunization records and birth certificate. If today's date is impossible, there will be registration on April 6 and April 8 in other towns in the district and registration for West Paris could take place there. Please don't wait until September to register your kindergarten.

For those who don't have chicken pox, school goes on as usual. The kindergarten and first grade are finishing up their CAP program. The second grade had another successful trip to the Norlands. The fifth grade's annual trip to Boston went off without a hitch. The halfway now sports a mural of some of the many things we saw, either at the New England Aquarium, the Museum of Science, or on the USS Constitution. Two other murals depicting Canada, done in sixth grade social studies, share the space. Grade 6 has finished a unit on the body systems. They concentrated on the circulatory system and dissected the heart of a cow as part of that study. A culminating activity was a nutrition party lunch. No junk foods allowed!

Among the many activities going on in Grade 3 are the dinosaur parade and party. The dinosaurs paraded through the entire building so all of us could get a good look at the following: pterodactyl, Willow Andrews; stegosaurus, Chester Beauchesne; iguanodon, Andrew Bostinger; triceratops, Jason Bradeen and Carrie Cole; ankylosaurus, Heather Edwards; stegosaurus, Jodi Gilpatrick; tyrannosaurus rex, Jonathon Haas; diplodocus, Austin Hayes; allosaurus, Kevin Hutchinson; parasaurolphus, Renee Pratt; tanystropheus, Darcey Robinson; petranodon, Tany Rosenberg; brontosaurus, Erin Small; brachiosaurus, Katie Walton; and protoceratops, Liberty Woodsorth. The parade was followed by a party with dinosaur cake and dinosaur juice! This is a favorite and long-remembered unit for third-graders.

Proof that the school year is flying by is that the third ranking period closes April 3. The rank cards go home on April 10, and on Thursday evening and Friday morning, April 16 and 17, parent-teacher conferences will be held. Schedules will be set up as always to try to accommodate times for those with more than one child in school and for work schedules. Be on the lookout for rank cards on conference slips.

We will be sponsoring a book fair during the week of conferences. Books 'N' Things will be organizing this spring's fair for the first time. We have decided to do this instead of one of the school book clubs to vary the selection from other fairs. We are also following the footsteps of some of the other schools in our district and to promote school spirit we are going to also have Agnes Gray School T-shirts and sweatshirts for sale. More details will be available at a later date or at the book fair, where samples will be on display.

North Paris

By EVELINE B. VATCHER

This has been a long, rainy, dark day. I suppose we need a bad day once in awhile to offset the beautiful sunny days we have been having. At least the snow is melting slowly, which may help us avoid a flood. Maybe the month of March will leave us like a lamb.

Harlan and Jimmy Abbott, Joe Vatcher, local, and Earl Newton, Mechanic Falls, went to Augusta March 28 to the sportsman's show. They took the snow shovel.

Joe and Eveline Vatcher had doctor's appointments Monday, then had lunch at a Paris restaurant. This was their first meal since Feb. 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Bean have returned from their vacation at Moosehead and Dick is under a doctor's care. We wish him well.

Sincere sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. Anne Gibbs Cotton and also to the family of Arthur Thurlow. Callers at Lawrence's: Richard Felt, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Card, Mr. and Mrs. Odell Heath, Elizabeth Cummings, Arnold Coffin.

West Paris Grange will have their monthly dance at their hall April 4, with

SENIOR CITIZEN MENUS

Monday, April 6: Veal parmesan with spaghetti, green beans Italian, garlic bread, peaches

Tuesday, April 7: Turkey patte, au gratin potatoes, broccoli, roll, cran-apple sauce

Thursday, April 9: Baked chicken, mashed potatoes, squash, roll, cottage pudding door prizes, refreshments and home made pies - a good time for all.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Isley and grand-son Ian called on Joe and Eveline Vatcher Thursday.

A letter from "Pete" Andrews in Brandon, Fla., says things are shaping up great for the Heart and Cancer Fund dance and the bean hole bean supper on May 9. Mailing list has been updated and cards are being addressed by our Maine friends in Florida. "Pete" will return to Maine April 23. He will be busy with his music family. He is a good coordinator and he has lots of helpers. Tri-Town Ambulance and Rescue and the West Summer Grange will take care of the supper arrangements and divide the proceeds.

Tr-Town Rescue

April 1, 1987, Tri-Town Rescue's 6th birthday. We have come a long way since that April Fools Day in 1981 when Linwood "Pete" Andrews handed us the keys to old rescue 100, along with the responsibility for providing ambulance service for our four towns. That day we started out with one ambulance and one borrowed barn, and about two dozen eager but inexperienced attendants. Several of the attendants from that original crew are still with Tri-Town, 6 years older, and much wiser in experience. We now have 2 units, one housed in Bryant Pond, and one in West Paris, and will soon be moving into a new rescue barn in West Paris.
When this building is done, it will also be totally paid for, as are the two ambulances that we own. We also now have an active Search & Rescue group ready to assist the warden service with any lost-person search in our area. All this progress was possible through the work of the attendants who have worked hard to refine and continue to improve the standard of care; to our drivers who are there when we need them; to a super auxiliary who has been very successful with fund raising projects; to our in-service dispatchers who so ably send assistance to a scene, and arrange a crew for the remaining unit; and to the citizens of our towns who have been very supportive and generous over the years.
Thank you for your continuing support.

Tri-Town's Auxiliary will meet Wednesday, April 1, at the new building at Trap Corner at 7 p.m. New members are always welcome.

The board of directors will be meeting at Richard Walker's in East Sumner at 1 o'clock on April 8; Search and Rescue will meet April 14, topic will be responsibilities of a team leader; CPR recertification will be April 16, anyone needing to be recertified should call Chris Heffey at 665-2853 for more details.

Building committee chairman Warren Emery sat down with his pencil this week and figured out that there are about 400 man hours of labor needed to complete the Trap Corner Barn. We are at the stage where it looks almost done, guess what, it isn't. If there is anyone who would like to donate some of that precious commodity, time, Warren would be glad to find something for you to do. Give him a call at 674-2866.

Mr. and Mrs. William O'Connor of West Paris have donated a lovely dubloven electric range to be used in our new kitchen. This was the last of the major appliances that we needed, and most welcomed. Thank you.

By the way, we also have two members who share the April 1 birthday with Tri-Town. Happy birthday, Ruth and Christi!

Well, it's raining a little this morning instead of snow flurries in the air. The last two or three days have been real spring-like and it has seemed good. I expect the squirrels are getting food elsewhere as we haven't seen as many out back lately. We still have a few that come but not the group that used to. Had some new birds at the feeder yesterday and I think they were redpolls. They were busy little birds and pretty to watch.

Went with Russell last Thursday afternoon to Bethel to the dentist. He has been having such a time with his lower teeth and hasn't been able to wear them other than when eating. The dentist thought he got them fixed, but they still bother, so guess it means another trip up.

Last Friday was my day to visit my doctor in North Bridgton and we headed out in snow flurries. Really snowed hard on the way over. The car started acting up so wondered if we would be stranded somewhere. After awhile it seemed to clear out and run better but needs to go to the garage and see what is wrong.

Had snow flurries again on Saturday.
They don't amount to much but make for nasty driving or for going outside. I wasn't feeling too well so did some crocheting and worked around inside.
Russell decided he wouldn't go for a walk in the snow so read and drowsed in his chair.

I started about 10 o'clock Saturday might not feeling well, so didn't get any sleep that night. Finally went to the hospital for help muddle of the forenoon Sunday. The doctor told me he thought it was my dermatus acting out and gave me some antibiotics and sent me home. Had to go back on Monday as things were not as good and got some x-rays and blood tests done. Been on a liquid diet but even that hasn't got things straightened out, so had to go back for further treatment. Dermatus can be rather bad if it really acts out as mine is this time. It's the worst it has ever been. Thought they were going to put me into the hospital and if they had, maybe I would be all right by now.

Had made an appointment to take the car to the garage Monday, but it had to be changed, so Russell took it down Tuesday. Somehow liquids don't fill anyone up much and I felt pretty weak and didn't dare to drive.

Russell has been out fring up his bird boxes hoping a blizzard might see them and decide to be a neighbor this summer.
He has put out feed, made up especially for them and we both hope it will be of interest to them. We would love to have some around.

Tuesday was such a lovely day and so warm, one could almost watch the snow melt. It is unbelievable how fast it has gone lately but I'm not sorry to see it go.
It just amazes me to look one day and not see a hush that the snow has had covered and the next day there it is stacking up out of the snow much more than you would have believed. A sure sign that spring has sprung and the soft driveways show that things have changed.

Notes from the Woodstock Historical Society

Consider the following quote —

"In truth nothing so enhances a room as old wood whether painted or stained; lovely old porcelain, stoves and other; any of the decorative arts made at a time when workmanship was by hand and of quality. And interior decorators have been un-equivalently dependent on antique furnishings for their greatest successes."

— from House Beautiful

The society's building committee and trustees are planning some renovations on the museum this spring. They all work very hard for the society. Much thanks.

ed, also.

Didn't feel very ambitious but worked on a dolly I had in the making. Couldn't do all I wanted but it will get done in time for a wedding it is for. I work on it as long as I can and then change to something else. Sorry to say, I have kept the bed company quite a lot this week.

Wednesday was another lovely morning to wake up to and wish I had felt like singing, but didn't so kept still. Russell was outside quite a lot. Said he didn't do much of anything but went up and visited Lawrence awhile. He does that quite often. He wanted to take his walk in North Bridgton while I was waiting in the doctor's office, which is what he often does.
He has it measured off so he walks about a mile up the road and back, making the two miles he likes to walk. I'm afraid he has lost weight on his new diet but it has helped his legs where arthritis is concerned so that is a help. Psoriasis is more persistent and doesn't want to vanish.
Guess only time will tell if the diet for it really works. It has helped some but not the way Russell had hoped.

Russell has looked at seed catalogs to see what he wants to order for this year.
Every thing looks so good, it is hard to decide.

Next Thursday, April 2, West Paris Grange will be having Past Lecturer's night. The meeting will be preceded by a 6:30 supper. The following Saturday night, April 4, they will be having another of their good dances, so come for fun. A door prize will be available.

Saturday forenoon, the High Street Hillbillies-4H Club will be putting on a nutritional dinner for their parents at the Grange Hall. It is always interesting to see how well the 4-Hers can do in preparing a dinner like that. I used to do the same with my club years ago and it was a lot of work but fun, also. Fun to see just how well they had learned what you had tried to teach them and how much they were capable of doing. We usually get surprised.

Erlon Whitman is going to the hospital in Lewiston for an operation on his face.
He is doing so well after having the plastic knee surgery that we all hope for the very best for him in this procedure.
He is anxious to be able to plant his garden as usual and hope he can do so.
Pomona will be held at West Paris Grange in the month of April so anyone wishing to attend, come and join in.

DINOSAURS ON PARADE: Mrs. Loper's third-graders at Agnes Gray School paraded down to Legion Memorial School last week to show their costumes to the kindergartners and first-graders there.

At last we have spring days in Maine.
The sap must be running these last two days. One could get outside and really enjoy it.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews of Bridgton were over Sunday awhile in the afternoon. Arthur helped me with the wood as he usually does. I sure appreciate it, believe me.

Ed Haskell was down to work on the water pump as water stopped. He primed the pump again and got it going.

Bruce Danforth was in Maine Medical Center for a kidney stone operation recently. He came home this weekend.
He was at Norway for the removal of the drain March 24. We hope this is the last of his hospital troubles.

There seem to be spring colds or flu still in our midst. It should be gone with all this lovely weather.

Escher Davis and I were in North Bridgton Monday, March 21. We called on Lillian Harmon and Arthur Andrews.
On Friday, we were in Lewiston to get the glass for my eye that was operated upon Dec. 2.

Our neighborhood has been saddened by the death of Arthur Thurlow. He was in Lewiston hospital six weeks ago with a broken hip. He had his other leg removed last week, I was told, and Saturday night he passed away. There were visiting hours Monday evening and the funeral was held at the Adventist Church Tuesday afternoon. Our sympathy is extended to the family and relatives in their loss.

THANK YOU

I'm so very grateful for my dear family, and dear friends, for all the cards, flowers, visits and prayers, to the nurses

ed from New Orleans, where he played

Lakewood Country Club, March 18. He, along with 78 other independent in-

State fire marshal warns about smoke detectors

The Maine state fire marshal is concerned about the unusual increase in deaths due to fires recently.

"Since January there have been 17 fire-related deaths," State Fire Marshal Don Bisset said, "making 1987, so far, one of the most horrible years in recent memory."

Mr. Bisset said most fire deaths result from inhalation of smoke and toxic gases, not as a result of burns, with deaths and injuries occurring at night while victims are asleep. He suggested the use of smoke detectors as a way of saving lives.

But he warned that batteries must be checked, and replaced as needed, to ensure the reliability of smoke detectors.

He also noted the U.S. Product Safety Commission has warned of carbon monoxide hazard for mobile home furnaces. Roof vent caps on certain Home or Miller brand gas-fired furnaces installed in mobile homes are being replaced free of charge by Lear Siegler, Inc., of Holland, Mich. Mobile home owners should call 1-800-225-1168 if they have the

From Augusta

Now that the first day of Spring has come and gone, New England States are poised and waiting at the gate for the start of the 1987 Great Tourism Race. Our competitors to the south are sporting new slogans this year. Before reaching our borders, vacationers will be tempted to "Discover the Spirit of Massachusetts" or to "Bring the Family to New Hampshire." Not to be outdone, we have unveiled our summer theme: "Find Something New in New England... Maine."

If slogans are any indication of who might win the tourism race for 1987, my money is on Maine.

The fact is, slogans, marketing and advertising are all very important elements of the tourism game. But according to Governor John McKernan, Maine's promotional efforts have "only been a whisper in a crowd of competing messages."

Gov. McKernan is proposing a $4 million biennial increase in the State's tourism budget and to use 81 percent of those advertising dollars for promotional programs.

The promotional programs would be designed to bring visitors to all areas of the state, to expand Maine vacation seasons and to encourage the development of new tourism businesses. According to the governor, this would be accomplished by expanding the reach, frequency and penetration of advertising. "Simply put," he said, "our goal is to have more people hear more about Maine more often."

Eight percent of the proposed expanded budget will be targeted at maintaining and improving the quality of the Maine tourism product. The State Development Office will work with developers and regional organizations to expand tourism attractions and services available in Maine. Communication improvements, management assistance, product pricing, marketing, packaging, and hospitality training were among items included in this piece of the expanded tourism pie.

Since both the positive and negative impacts of tourism are largely felt on the local level, 9 percent of the expanded tourism budget is scheduled to provide local leaders with training in tourism promotion, planning and management. The final 2 percent slice will be targeted to provide ongoing analysis of our tourism investment for planning purposes. It will also be used to create new and better ways to monitor the effectiveness of our advertising and promotional programs.

Regional classified ads appear in this issue

Beginning with this issue, The Citizen is participating in the New England Classified Ad Network.

This is a service of the New England Press Association, to which The Citizen belongs, as do most newspapers in New England. The service allows an advertiser to place classified ads not only in The Citizen but in hundreds of community newspapers across the six New England states.

For purposes of the regional classifieds, New England is divided into three regions: the Tri-State Region consists of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont; the Southern New England Region consists of Rhode Island and Connecticut; and the Bay State Region consists of Massachusetts.

Through The Citizen, an advertiser can now place a classified ad in nearly every newspaper within any of the regions, or in all three, reaching millions of readers. For details, call The Citizen office.

Forest products/tourism industries join forces for public awareness

Under the auspices of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce, western Maine's two major industries, forest products and tourism, have joined forces to promote and protect the Bethel region's valuable forest resource.

A card with a message about forest management in the area asks tourists the question "Enjoy the scenery?" The forest products industry produced the piece which was paid for by the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce and will be distributed by the tourist related business and lodging establishments. The Bethel Area Chamber is inserting the card with response to all mail inquiries.

The Bethel Area Chamber hopes that this joint venture will serve as an example for other communities and will be the start of many mutually beneficial activities between these two industries.

WATER, WATER, EVERYWHERE, particularly over low roads, such as the Greenwood road. Flooding began in low-lying areas Tuesday and schools in SAD #44 were closed in order to get children back home in case floods later washed out roads. Mr. Abram Ski Slopes did not open because of flooding on the access road.
